FTSE Russell, the global index, analytics and data provider, today announced that Jesus Togno has joined the firm to lead business development and client relationships in Latin America. Based in the firm's Mexico City office, Togno will focus on managing and growing relationships across the region for FTSE Russell indexes, data, market information and tools.

Brian Rosenberg – Managing Director, Head of Americas Sales, FTSE Russell:

“FTSE Russell is focused on growing the business in Latin America, and we are pleased to have Jesus lead our efforts in the region. His industry and market knowledge, along with strong client relationship management experience, will be highly valuable as we expand our business in the region.”

“As a global index provider, FTSE Russell offers clients in Latin America a breadth of resources and expertise.
